Better Medicine Better Outcomes

Wearables can automatically track and record data that can then be shared with health providers. These devices may track:

- Sleep, Nutrition
- Medicine drug adherence/supplements & compliance
- Exercise & activity level, Heart rate
- Blood sugar readings and other vital statistics.
- Respiration rate, ECG

To address the rising cost of chronic conditions. Individuals must find effective ways to get people to adopt healthier behaviors

- Incentives and Challenges
- Patient Compliance

Strong health care management is dependent on their understanding, acceptance and adherence to the recommendations you provide.

Only by achieving accountability - can we truly start to promote change
